Procedure

Before class

Prepare a word rose (10-15 different terms arranged in a circle) featuring key vocabulary from a text or topic.

In class

1. Write the word rose on the blackboard or project it onto the wall with a beamer.
2. Tell your learners they are going to read a text or work on a topic in which these words appear.
3. To activate prior knowledge ask them to speculate on the content of the text or the lesson.
4. With the help of the word rose you can pre-teach challenging vocabulary.

Alternative

Show your learners the word rose and have them predict in pairs what the topic of the lesson/text might be. Collect predictions in the plenary. Then tell them if their guesses were correct and give them the topic/title.
